Citizens Input

Kim McDaniel of SAINT Rescue and Adoption Center stated she has helped with 35,499 roaming cats get fixed since June 2013. She answered a call from a Hiawatha resident regarding a family of cats in the Tucker Park area. McDaniel said 20 cats are part of TNR (Trap-Neuter-Return) in Tucker Park and free roaming cats come from low income housing and people who have moved and abandoned their cats. McDaniel commented the city should pass an ordinance that bans pets out of low income homes and take the lead role in educating municipalities.

Angela Brecht of Cedar Rapids commented cats can reproduce very quickly and will create a bigger problem in the end and the animals are suffering. Brecht mentioned a TNR workshop at the Cedar Valley Humane Society on March 3 at 10:00 AM.

Susan Scott of 209 C Avenue commented she has TNR'd several cats and was told to quit feeding the cats and to contain them but she has fences they can climb over.

Betty Mark of 107 E Clark Street stated there are stray cats in the neighborhood abandoned from the trailer court and every cat had two to three liters. Mark said she has live traps out with food and has caught some cats and gotten several fixed. Mark mentioned people are spending their own money trying to fix the problem.

Rachel Hruseborne of 211 B Avenue mentioned she started trapping cats in December and has so far trapped six females that neighbors were feeding.
